

1948-2023 CELEBRATING 75 YEARS!

2023 AIAVT Annual Design Awards Call for Entries

AIAVT is hosting two distinct awards programs in 2023: The AIAVT Annual Design Awards, and the 75-Year Award. Submissions can be made in one or both awards programs. Details on the 2023 Annual Design Awards are below. Please find information on the 75 Year Awards here.

All AIA members are invited to submit projects for the 2023 AIAVT Annual Design Awards; the 75-Year Award is open to all, including members of the public. Winners of both awards programs will be announced at the AIAVT Annual Meeting in December.

You may submit a project to the Annual AIAVT Design Awards, and/ or the 75-year award. If submitting the same project for both the AIAVT Annual Design Awards and for the 75-Year Awards, the 500-word statement in the submission form shall satisfy the text requirement for both awards programs.

ELIGIBILITY

The Annual Design Awards Program is open to licensed architects who are AIA Vermont members, to submit projects located anywhere in the world. Licensed AIA Members from other chapters may submit projects located in Vermont. Projects may include any built structure, building, or project type, and must have been completed after January 1, 2013. All materials included in project submissions must be cleared for publicity and reproduction. Projects that have previously won an AIAVT Design Award are ineligible. However, a project that has won a People's Choice or a Peer's Choice Award in previous years is eligible for re-submission.

JURY AND AWARDS

A panel of individually selected architects and members from another AIA chapter will review project entries, using the AIA Framework for Design Excellence as their criteria. Three levels of awards will be considered by the jury: Honor, Merit, and Citation, of which Honor is the highest distinction. No minimum or maximum number of awards will be required of the jury.

PROJECT CATEGORIES

Project Categories are provided to encourage diversity and equity in the distribution of awards. Projects of all types, including new construction, additions, renovations, and historic preservation projects will be evaluated within each of the following 4 categories:

- Single Family Residential
- Commercial/ Institutional/ Multi-Family/ Mixed-Use
- Historic Preservation/ Adaptive Re-Use /Rehabilitation
- Small Projects (Small project construction, work of environmental art or architectural design element up to $250,000 in construction cost)
